BEATRICE MARRIED.

The Youngest Daughter of Queen Victoria Marries Prince Henry of Battenberg.

On Thursday of last week Princess Beatrice, the youngest and only single daughter of Queen Victoria, was united in marriage to Prince Henry of Battenberg, at St. Mildred's Church, near London, with much pomp and ceremony. The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Dean of Windsor performed the ceremony, assisted by a number of other high dignataries of the Church of England.

The 93d Highlanders guarded the approaches to the church, while the road traversed by the procession was lined by volunteers. The bridal procession started from the palace at 1:15. Loyal and enthusiastic shouting and cheering greeted the pageant as it emerged from the gates, and the demonstration was taken up and continued by the people along the whole route to the church. Bands of music posted at different points along the route played as the bridal party passed, and the road from the palace to the church was gay with evergreen arches, flowers and flags.

The interior of the church, with its exquisite floral decoration, presented a beautiful appearance, and the magnificent display of bright uniforms and handsome toilets made the scene most impressive. The dress of the bride was much admired, and the bridesmaids, clad in lovely white gossamer, attracted much attention. The Prince of Wales, who wore the uniform of a field marshal, gave the bride away, and his two sons, Victor and George, wearing brilliant uniforms, were also present. Princess Beatrice is in her 29th year. She is

A Successful Elopement.

For some months past pretty Miss Mamie Mack, aged 15, one of the belles of the village of Morysville, Pa., 12 miles below Reading, has been courted by William Gresh, and the young couple determined on matrimony, but Miss Mack's parents objected, owing to their daughter's age. The opposition of the old people, however, had no effect, and one day last week the girl's lover drove a pair of bay horses to the Mack residence before dawn. Miss Mack was an early riser, and she was up and dressed and succeeded in getting away unheard, and to-gether the lovers dashed along the country road, leaving a long cloud of dust behind them. They went to a friend's house, and in a very short time Miss Mack had arrayed herself in a the house of the Rev. Mr. Bayer, who tied the Abraham Soldey, a New York tailor, wrote to his sweetheart, Pearl Christ, in Poland, to come to this country and he would marry her. She landed at Castle Garden last week and was met by Soldey, who, after a cordial embrace, asked her how much money she had. She informed him that her traveling expenses had entirely exhausted her finances. "Didn't your father leave you $1,000?" asked Soldey. "He never had 1,000 pennies," replied the girl.

"Well, wait a moment," said the fellow, "and I'll be back." Pearl waited several hours, but Abraham came not, and finally the poor girl, who was without money or friends, stated her story to a Castle Garden detective, who, after seeing her in a place of safety, arrested the mercenary lover, who will languish in prison until an understanding can be arrived at.

He Lost His Leg.

Thomas F. Segur, a young man living in Brooklyn, N. Y., a few days since felt a sudden pain in his right leg as he was crossing the Brooklyn Bridge. When he reached the building in which he was employed he found himself unable to mount the stairs. An ambulance was summoned, and he was carried to the New York Hospital, where his case was pronounced to be paralysis. A closer examination, however, revealed the strange fact that a clot of blood had choked up one of the arteries in the limb, and that gangrene had set in below the point of stoppage. It was found necessary to amputate the limb as soon as the exact point where the gangrene lay could be located. Similar cases are very rare, and no cause for their occurrence has yet been discovered.

Peter Stamp, a colored man, who has been employed for some years by a well-to-do farmer named Ambercrombie, near Douglasville, Ga., was lynched on Friday last for an alleged outrage on Ida. the 13-year-old daughter of his employer. The girl confessed that Stamp was the father of her unborn child; that a year ago he outraged her and since that time the intercourse has been continued. The negro declared that the girl willingly submitted, and that he used no violence. Soon after making the confession Ida fell down in convulsions and died in a short time. A post mortem examination revealed the presence of strychnine in the girl's stomach. It is a mystery as to whether she committed suicide, and some suspect her father of administering the poison. Stamp was 45 years of age.

He Won the Bet, But Lost His Life. Jacob Schatz was the victim of a curious acident at an ice pond a short distance from Middleton, O. He wagered with some companions that he could exist two minutes under water, and, plunging from a boat, he grasped an iron chain connected with some of the ice lifting machiery, and remained under water, clinging to it for two minutes and three-quarters. At the expiration of that time he came to the surface, expelled the air from his lungs, and one of his companions was just in the act of reaching out to assist him into the boat when the unfortunate man sank. A companion immedlately dived after him, and he was lifted into the boat, but all efforts to restore life were useless.

The Crops in Texas.

This year the value of the agricultural and pastoral products of Texas will reach the magnificent sum of $125,000.000. The acreage in cultivation is greater than ever before. The corn yield is immense, and it is believed will not command more than 20 and 25 cents per bushel. There are now ready for export 1,000-000 head of fat cattle, while in the matter of sheep and wool Texas now leads California. The acreage in cotton this season is 20 per cent. more than it was during the great crops of 1881-'2, when over 1,500,000 bales were made in the State, and the present prospect for a crop of this valuable product is almost perfect. How Fish is Treated in Prison.

James D. Fish, ex-President of the Marine Bank, who was recently convicted and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment in the Auburn State Prison for irregularities, has been assigned to employment in the prison shoe shop. His cell has been furnished by friends with a carpet and an easychair. A large hanging lamp was also presented to him, but the prison authorities did not allow him to keep it on ac-count of the room it took up in the cell, and a small bracket lamp has been substituted. In going to meals he is not compelled to march in lock step with his fellow-convicts, but is allowed to follow the company at will, as do most of the older prisoners. During the first three months he will be allowed to write three letters; after that one in six weeks, unless by special permission. Once a month he will be allowed a visit of half an hour's duration with friends. Business visits are allowed as often as may be necessary. Fish is treated precisely as any other convict of equal age and health.

[Translated from De Las Novedades, May 20.] SURPRISE PARTY. Not one of the usual kind, where those who come furnish the music, feast and merriment, for, in this instance at least, the surprised parties do the dancing and are paid for doing so.

We refer to those who were lucky enough to hold share of the ticket No. 5347 in the Original "Little Havana" (Gould & Co's) decided by Royal Havan Lottery Class 1187, drawn at Havana on the 11th inst. That number drew $50,000 in Spanish Gold in the Government Lottery at Cuba, and decided also "Little Havana" (Gould & Co's) entitling the same to $12,500 U. S. Currency, which latter was divided in fractions and held: Two-fifths by J. A. Castrezana, Tailor, 218 6th Ave., N. Y. One-fifth by Mrs. Isabella Paez, 245 16th St., So. Brooklyn, N.Y. One-fifth (jointly) by A. Janofsky, A. Krouse and Rafael Boitel, eigarmakers, employed at Stachelberg's Factory, 154, So. 5th Ave., N. Y., and the remaining one-fifth by a gentleman residing in N. Y. City, whose name and address, in deference to his wishes, are not given.

We are advised that these obligations have been promptly paid, in full, by the General Agents Shipsey Company, 1212 Broadway, N. Y., immediately on the arrival of the Official List, and that such promptings is usual with them and it is only such promptness is usual with them, and it is only one more evidence that the reliability of "This Little Havana" (Gould & Co's) cannot be ques-

We congratulate those who have fared so wel through this investment. May each and all enjoy their share while some one else, on this occasion, pays the fiddler. We should not object to being the surprised parties, and in the same manner-Would you?

CAPTURING A LOCOMOTIVE!

A True History of the Most Thrilling and Romantic Secret Service of the Late War,

By REV. WILLIAM PITTENGER,

One of the actors in the strange scenes described, and now a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

ILLUSTRATED WITH PORTRAITS AND WOOD-CUTS.

EXTRACTS FROM OFFICIAL REPORTS:

"The mode of operation proposed was to reach point on the road where they could seize a locomotive and train of cars, and then dash back in the direction of Chattanooga, cutting the telegraph wires and burning the bridges behind them as they advanced, until they reached their own lines."

"The twenty-two captives, when secured, were thrust into the negro jail of Chattanooga. They occupied a single room, half under ground, and but thirteen feet square, so that there was not space enough for them all to lie down together, and a part of them were, in consequence, obliged to sleep sitting and leaning against the walls. The only entrance was through a trap-door in the ceiling, that was raised twice a day to let down their scanty meals, which were lowered in a bucket. They had no other light or ventilation than that which came through two small tripley grated windows. They were covered with swarming vermin, and the heat was so oppressive that they were often obliged to strip themselves entirely of their clotnes to bear it. Add to this, they were all handcufed, and, with trace-chains secured around their necks by padlocks, were fastened to each other in companies of two and threes. Their food, which was doled out to them twice a day, consisted of a little flour wet with water and baked in the form of bread, and spoiled pickled beef. They had no opportunity of procuring supplies from the outside, nor had they any means of doing so,—their pockets having been rifled of their last cent by the Confederate authorities, prominent among whom was a rebel officer wearing the uniform of a major. No part of the money thus basely taken was ever returned."

Eight Thousand Copies of Capturing a Locomotive have already been sold, and the demand still is for "more." It is handsomely Bound in Cloth, printed in Large, Clean type, making 250 pages of reading matter and Thirteen full-page Illustrations.

Mention The National Tribune. G.A.R. RECORD.

An Extraordinary Offer.

THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE has secured control of H. O. Teed's superb "G.A.R. Record," which has been so much admired by comrades everywhere. This is a genuine work of art, being printed from a steel plate engraved by the best artists in the country. In the center is a blank for the military record of the owner, to be attested by the officers of his Post. Around this are spirited pictures of war seenes—all executed in the highest style of banknote engraving. A viguet of Lincoln on the left hand and a representation of the G.A.R. badge on the right are real artistic gems. When the blank in the center is filled out in a fine engrossing hand with the name of the seldier, his rank, company with the name of the soldier, his rank, company and regiment, and the battles he participated in, wounds, and other facts of his military history, it wounds, and other facts of his military history, it will make a magnificent ornament for the parlor and an invaluable heirloom for the owner's children. It has never been sold so far for less than $2, but we will send it, securely packed in a tube, to any address for a club of 10 subscribers to THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE; or we will send it and THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE for one year for $2. This is a splendid chance to get this superb work of art chean. Address—
